FOREWORD

1818667

The long promised Bulletin of Addresses of the Alumni and Former Students of the College is at last ready to send out to the big Yankton family. The gathering of these addresses, begun several months ago, has been a large task and has involved no small expense, but we believe that all of you will be glad it was undertaken, and are confident that the publication of the list will promote renewal of acquaintance among you and stimulate your loyalty to the College.

I wish to mention the helpers in this labor, Mrs. G. H. Durand and Mrs. Gertrude Tripp, who started the correspondence and the card index, and Mrs. A. L. Lee, the wife of our secretary, who later took it in hand and has done the larger share of the work. Secretary Lee himself has had charge of bringing the Bulletin through the press.

The list of names is not complete but is as nearly complete as we could make it. If you know of someone whose name is omitted we urgently request you to write to us and give what information you can. If you note any errors in addresses given please inform us without fail.

The items of news which you have been sending in on the reply postal cards proved too bulky for the Bulletin and they are to be published in the special monthly alumni and former student number of The Yankton Student, which we propose to send to all of you during the present school year. It will contain not only these items you have sent, but special articles and other matters of interest to every former student. If you are not a subscriber to the regular weekly Student we solicit your subscription to this monthly issue, 50 cents, in postage, money order or draft. The College has assumed the expense of this extra monthly distribution of The Yankton Student and would appreciate your remittance of the subscription price.

Subscriptions, and also information regarding addresses, may be sent to Secretary A. L. Lee.

Allow me to make four suggestions regarding the use of the Bulletin of Addresses:

1. Carefully preserve your copy of the Bulletin for reference.
2. Find addresses of some of your friends and class-mates and write to them.
3. Make yourself familiar with names of former Yankton students in your town and vicinity and take occasion to get in touch with them.
4. Do your share in building up the Pound Professorship Fund, to be raised by the alumni and former students as part of our present endowment campaign. Subscribe to it. promote it among your class-mates and friends, get into the swing of this splendid, loyal, get-together movement.

President Warren and the faculty join me in greetings and best wishes to every one of you.

Yours truly,

G. H. DURAND,

Vice President.
